Dear brothers and sisters,

I am glad to send you our warmest welcome greetings from the distant lands of Russia.

No matter where our home is, whether it is a small island or the largest country in the world, the point where we start our spiritual journey is the most important point for us. It could be a luxurious palace or a modest shelter – it makes no difference for the one who has stepped outside of it, being inspired by an insuperable aspiration to explore the world.

It is true as for the outer world of shoreless ocean, hidden lands full of strangers and calling wonders – so it is true for the inner spiritual world of unseen reality filled with self-exploration which leads to the same shoreless imagination, discovers hidden traits of ours and calls to unknown. So let's feel the friendly presence of each other no matter how far apart we are! Let us accompany you in your mystical journey, which we all have begun at different time and places and which will bring us to the fraternal unity!
